"One of the most important facts about human beings is that they are not all alike. Yet if we are to survive, we must live in a world composed not only of differing individuals, but of differing groups. And if we are to adjust ourselves to such a world, we must realize and understand that these differences are not barriers, but the hallmarks of human uniqueness which attract us, one to another."

I sit here by myself
And you know I love it
You know I don't want someone
To come pay a visit
I wanna be by myself
I came into this world alone
Me myself I

Don't want to get the bad guy
Don't want to make a soul cry
It's not that I love myself
I just don't want company
Except
Me Myself
Myself
I
Me myself and I
Just me myself I

Once the realization is accepted that even between the closest human beings
infinite distances
continue to exist,
a wonderful living
side by side
can grow up,
if they succeed
in loving the distance between them which makes it possible for each to see the other
whole against the sky.

RAINER MARIA RILKE

If a man
does not keep pace
with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer.
Let him step
to the music he hears,
however measured
or far away.

I celebrate myself, and sing myself,
And what I assume, you shall assume,
For every atom belonging to me,
As good belongs to you,
Stop this day and night . . .
. . . and you shall possess the goodness of the earth and sun

You shall not look through my eyes either,
Nor take things from me,
You shall listen to all sides and filter them for yourself.

those I like is enough,
To stop in company with the rest at evening is enough,
To be surrounded by beautiful,
curious, breathing, laughing
flesh is enough,
To pass among them or touch anyone, or rest my arm ever so lightly around his or her neck for a moment, what is this then?
I do not ask any more delight,
I swim in it, as in the sea.

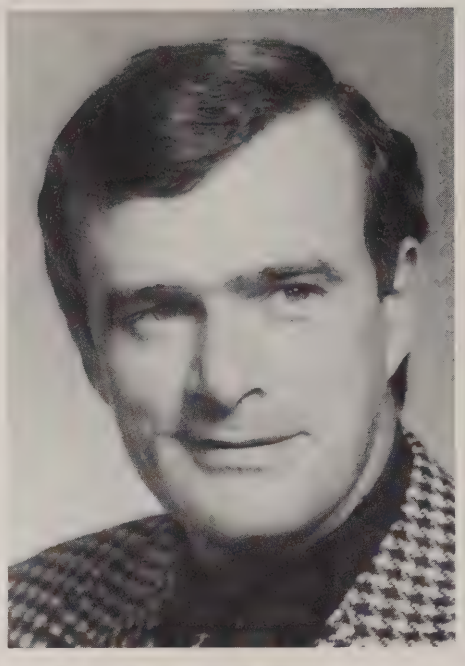
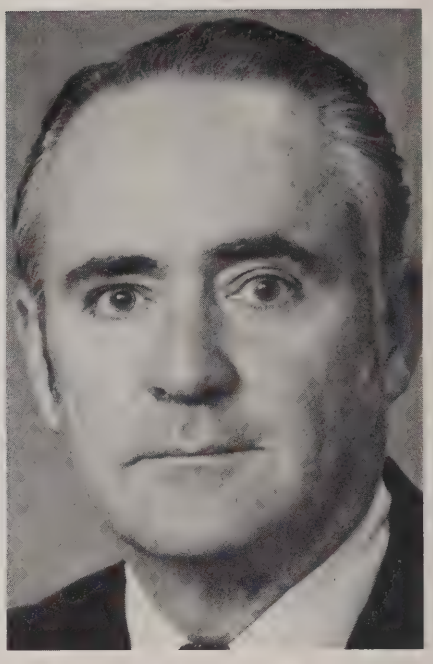
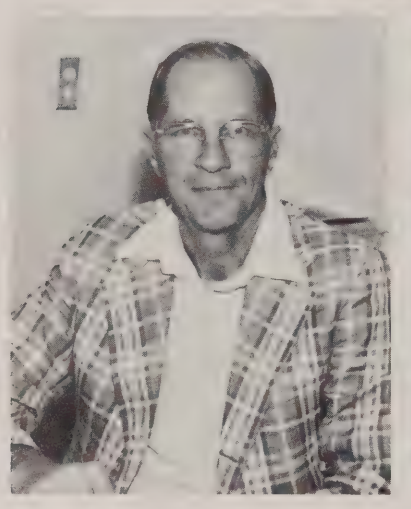
Administration

The B.H.S. Administration is in charge of discipline, activities, and curriculum. Dr. Tynan, Mr. Geick, and Dr. Wannie form the central administration, while Mr. Graves supervises deans and club advisers, and Mr. Goldman concentrates on the twelve department heads. Teachers work with the administration to create a solid academic curriculum.







Top Left: Dr. Edward J. Tynan, Superintendent of Schools.
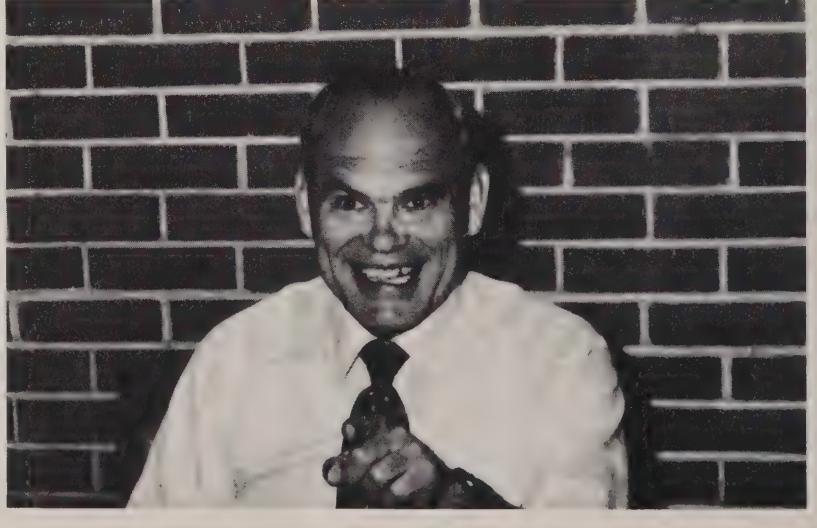
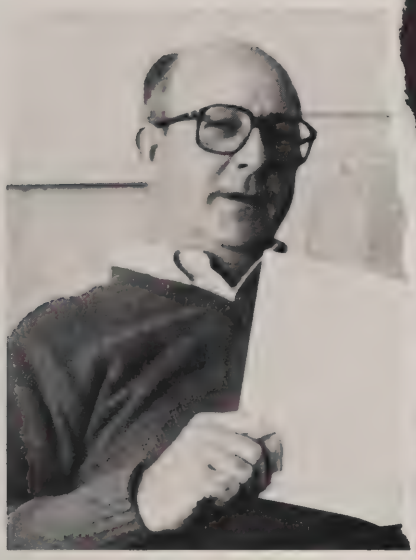
Center Left: Dr. T. Walter Wannie, Principal.
Center: Mr. Richard M. Goldman, Assistant Principal.
Center Right: Mr. Richard H. Graves, Assistant Principal.
Bottom: Mr. Hal Cornforth, Dean for Class of 1983.





The B.H.S. Guidance Department works at providing an academic and personal atmosphere for the students through counseling. Six guidance counselors and a special needs counselor erve B.H.S. They aid udents in arranging their hedules to suit their needs nd requirements for graduaion. Their hard work and assistance is greatly appreciated by all.

At Barnstable High to be able to graduate from school the student must have at least two credits of history. There are many different social studies for students to choose from. Intro to Life is limited only to seniors; it offers students practical information about real life topics and situations. Social Values and Psychology study human behavior and personaliity, while Afro-American History covers the experience of black Americans. A student can also study economics, ancient history, sociology, or American government to fulfill his graduation requirements.

English

The BHS English Department is the largest in the school, because each student is required to take four years of English. English 1 and 2 are offered to freshmen and sophomores; they must pass these before moving on to more advanced study. Once through these two years juniors and seniors can choose from a broad range of electives.

Top Left: Mr. Fales seems to be in deep logical thought.

Standing: Mr. Bracket, Ms. Buhler, Mr. Dienes, Mr. Glatki, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Gobeil, Mrs. Williams, Mr. Wingren, Mrs. LaRoche, Mrs. Flaherty and Mrs. Camara.

Math

The BHS Math Department offers a wide range of courses, so that any student may find a suitable subject to study. For the college bound individual, there are the usual preparatory courses such as algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus. There are also business math courses, and computer training programs which teach two programming languages — FOCAL and BASIC.

Top Left: math faculty : Mr. Ahern, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Manning, Mrs. Van Hazinga, Mr. Ehret, Ms. Rogean, Mr. Sundalin, Mr. Segura, Mr. Shrum, Mrs. Ladue, Mr. Pribbish.
Bottom: Michael Barry, Lori Blank, and Tracy Cappobianco listen attentively to a lecture.

Science

Although most BHS students take the three fundamental science courses, biology, chemistry, and physics, there is also a range of other topics offered. Among them are environmental earth science, ecology/geology, and electronics courses. In addition, students may pursue a subject in their free time for independent study credit.

Missing: Mrs. A. Camara.

The foreign language classes are popular at Barnstable High, for they teach Spanish, Latin, French, and German. These courses include the historical, geographical, and cultural backgrounds of Spain, Rome, France, and Germany. In Spanish for example, students are taught about Mexican, South American, and Spanish civilizations and everyday life. The department encourages students to take courses in foreign languages to gain the basic language structures. These languages help in traveling to foreign countries and in preparing students who wish to further their studies.

Business

The average high school student has at least one course in the business field. Most students take computer programming, typing, and accounting. Business law, a popular course, is a great colletege-preparatory class for students who want to know more about their rights as an adult. Classes in accounting help students learn about the objectives and prospectives of owning a business. Computer programming shows students how to program a computer, operate one, and use it in the business world. All of these classes help the students learn what the future is going to bring.

Bottom: Mr. Brock gathers his thoughts.

Art

The Art Department is a place for students to express themselves in a way no other place allows. Through courses in various levels of fine arts, sculpture, arts and crafts, and ceramics, students find an excellent creative outlet. Their talents are fostered by the four art teachers, and a striking improvement is noticeable in all students who pursue a four year art program.

Top: The Art Department Staff is Mr. Lopes, Mr. Bolton, Mr. Puleo, and Mr. Sullivan.
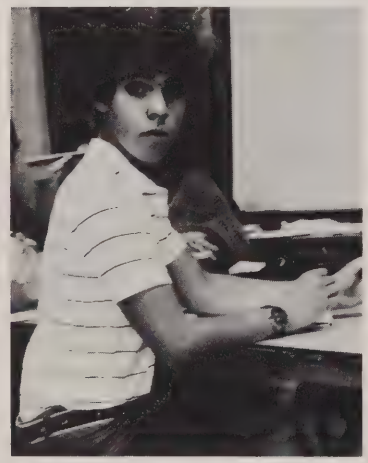
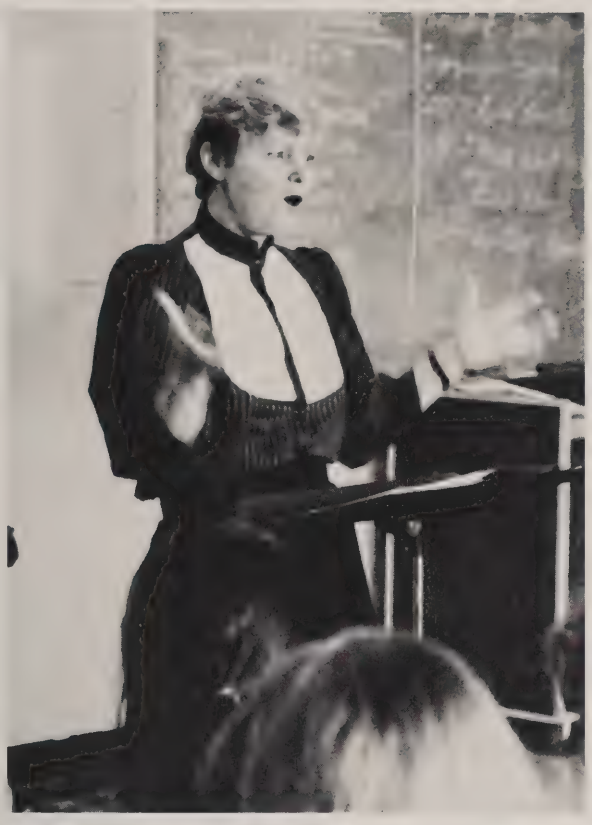
Middle Right: Kathy Chase and Diane Dutra, two four-year fine arts students, work on their paintings.
Bottom: Four third-year art students, Jim Hill, Donna Haley, Peter Somers, and Kim Bachioci work on their pastels during period one.



Music



The BHS Music Department caters to musicians both as individuals and as groups. Walking through the music wing of the school, one may hear the strains of a solo violinist, or the sound of the entire band. Students work on improving their skills through personal lessons, and then contribute their talents to one of several performing groups. Chorus, stage band, marching band, string ensemble, orchestra, and concert band present several concerts each year.

Middle: Mrs. Murphy plays the piano for the chorus.
Bottom: The music staff consists of Mr. Machon, Mrs. Lumenello, and Mr. Stevens.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department at Barnstable offers students a chance to learn the basics of woodworking, electricity, electronics, plastics, metalworking, and technical drawing. Students take their own projects and develop them. Many students take Industrial Arts to further their knowledge, as well as to develop coordination and skill with the equipment. These courses help students to prepare for engineering schools and technical schools.

FAMILY AND PERSONAL LIVING

The courses in Family and Personal Living help the students learn to adjust to life. The skills taught cover everything from marriage to careers such as Interior Decorating. Courses in Independent Living and Marriage and Family Life help students to deal with new challenges such as going off to college and starting new jobs. Another course, which many students take, is Child Development. Part of this department includes a pre-school, which is open to the Barnstable community. This gives the students a chance to develop skills in teaching, child guidance, nutrition, and health care.

Top Right: Pam observes some pre-schoolers.

Physical Education

Barnstable High School has one of the best Physical Education Departments in the state. There are nine teachers who spend their days helping students stay in shape.

Along with regular physical education classes there are special courses offered. There are classes for students who are considering physical education for a major in college. Also there are C.P.R. classes which teach the student how to save lives.

Middle Right: Mr. Cowing collects basketballs from one class.
Bottom: Mr. Warren heads the Physical Education Department.

Special Education

The Special Education Program offers many different opportunities for the students involved. There is the resource room which helps the students to develop their classroom abilities. A transitional program has been developed to help the students feel comfortable in the classroom. Also there is a team program which allows the students to work at their own rate. The teachers in these various programs spend many hours helping the students in any way they can.

Middle Right: Brian Crocker pays attention to what he's doing.
Bottom: Mrs. Eagar works with Beth Uchmann and Tina Ponatt.

Nurses/Audio Visual

The nurse's office, a very busy place, plays an important role in insuring student health. The nurses aid the sick and injured, give sports physicals, check immunizations, and give vision and hearing tests. They help to keep the school population healthy.

Top: Mrs. Dupuis, Mrs. M. Lane, Mrs. Aittaniemi, Mrs. Coughlin.

The A-V Department delivers video machines to classrooms, makes and records video tapes, cassettes, slides, and other audio-visual aids for educational purposes.

Middle Right: Mr. Crockett, Mr. Ducharnais, Mr. Loughnane.

Bottom: Mr. Loughnane shows Peter Somers how to work the cameras.

Library

The library is used by students to prepare research papers, speeches, and reports. It is also used as a place for pleasurable reading and quiet study. The library contains 19,000 volumes, 100 periodicals, and 35,000 items on microfiche to aid students in gathering information. Mr. Geary and the library staff guide students in locating reference tools and books.

Top: library staff : Mrs. Mullen, missing; Mr. Geary, Mrs. Magnan, and Mrs. Higham.
Middle Right: Wendy Norwood and Tom Norton combine studying with socializing.

Cafeteria & Custodial Staff

Barnstable High keeps the Cafeteria and Custodial Staff busy throughout the day. Cafeteria Staff offers the students breakfast, lunch, and dinner, and snacks such as french fries and milkshakes. The Custodial Staff is called on whenever a light burns out or it's too hot or too cold. The custodians also keep make the building pleasant by keeping it clean and neat.

Bottom Left: main office : S. Noonan, G. Johnson, D. Noyes.
Missing: C. DeFulgentiis.
Middle Right: A. Weik keeps the computer in Data Processing going.

The secretaries in our school have not got an easy job. They have to answer phones, organize the attendance lists and try to keep everything in order. All the paper work is done by them, so we at Barnstable would certainly be lost without our secretaries.

Seniors

CLASS OFFICERS: President, John Dallow; Vice-President, Charles Gordon; Secretary, Robert Beaton, and Treasurer, William Everett led the Class of 1983 to a successful year. Their leadership skills and fundraising efforts kept senior year rolling.

A wildness invites itself in telling us it's time to fly. So take command and tell your stand. Maybe you'll land in a hand without any sand. I wish we see our lives instead of take it as it comes, Many things may be avoided. Tell all of this to anyone you meet. Be alert for all around. Trade smiles with anyone that's blue. Happiness rules sadness. Now break on through those doors of destiny, do not catch your foot and watch out for the door. KW, KD, KD, CHW, EW, KB, TM, DE, DL, JS, AEE.

"Man is born gentle and weak. At his death he is hard and stiff. Green plants are tender and filled with sap. At their death they are withered and dry. Therefore the stiff and unbending is the disciple of death. The gentle and yielding is the disciple of life. Thus an army without flexibility never wins a battle. A tree that is unbending is easily broken. The hard and strong will fall. The soft and weak will overcome." Alternate Learning Program

Even though we're over now and our different ways we'll go.
I wish the very best for you just thought I'd let you know.

So when the day turns into night,
and my mind drifts to the past.

I wish the very best for you and hope your good times last.

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

The Alternate Learning Program is a school within a school at Barnstable High. The program is one of the choices that a Barnstable High student may make in order to fulfill his/her high school requirements and prepare for future endeavors. The purpose of the A.L.P. is to provide an alternative educational setting, designed to assist each student to grow personally and to positively interact as a community member. The A.L.P. offers a rigorous academic environment. Each new student is put on a contract for one quarter, which includes attendance and academic performance. The average A.L.P. student takes three reading classes where they are required to read several fiction and non-fiction books. All of our students are required to take a foreign language. This year our students' grades, based on the whole program, are on an upswing. Twenty percent of the students made the honor roll first quarter.

The A.L.P. attracts a wide range of students. Some are looking for a creative and flexible learning experience; others come to improve their basic academic skills or to concentrate on preparation for college work. The opportunities in A.L.P. depend to a great extent on the student's input into designing a meaningful learning experience.

ALP ENJOYS ANNUAL TRIP

An integral part of A.L.P. is the annual three day trip to Camp Sargent. A beautiful outward bound experience, it affords the students an opportunity to not only achieve goals they never dreamed possible, but also come together as a solid family unit.

Each Wednesday, A.L.P. has its community meeting. This is a time when all students and faculty come together to duscuss problems, field trips, coming events, etc. We believe that this is one of the reasons A.L.P. operates more like a "family unit." In preparation for the meeting, the A.L.P. president, Chris Kehoe and Vice-president Glenn Bacci meet the day before the meeting with Scott Kivel to discuss any pertinent news and information they may want discussed at the meeting. We consider these meetings the nucleus of the program and the time when many major decisions and changes are made.

A REFLECTION ON FOUR YEARS

For me, A.L.P. was not a mystery. I'd had five other siblings preceeding me. The decision to enter A.L.P. is never an easy one. The stigma attached to coming into the program is usually filled with words like flunky; druggie or trouble maker. I ignored this because I knew what the program was all about. But of course, I realized that there were all types of people in A.L.P. as well as the high school. I wasn't going to let other people hinder my decision in coming in so, I applied.

It was a year of change, which began that fall with a new director. He brought new ideas which were not readily accepted by a certain group of students who had been in the program prior to Scott Kivel's arrival.

As the year went on, we had different group and learning experiences which brought us closer together and through these experiences, many of our problems were resolved.

Through the years, I have witnessed many changes. Most of them have been for the better, but occasionally, problems arise and usually the staff's openness and willingness to discuss things, resolves whatever problems may come up.

Like most seniors, I, too, look back fondly over these past four years remembering a timid freshman entering high school. I feel my time spent in A.L.P. has been valuable and I will always remember it as a good learning experience for me. — Chris Kehoe

JUNIOR MISS REWARDS ALL

The Junior Miss Program is a nationwide scholarship program for senior girls. Its aim is to reward those who excel in personality, poise, and promise. The Junior Miss Program is not a beauty contest; girls are judged on articulation, clarity of expression, ability to organize thoughts, scholastic achievement, physical fitness, creative and performing arts, and poise and appearance. Barnstable's Key Club remains the only Key Club in the nation to sponsor a Junior Miss Program. Key Club members work backstage, sell ads for the program, organize the judge's interviews, act as ushers, and sell tickets and refreshments at the program. Junior Miss is a great opportunity for the girls to get to know the other girls in their graduating class with whom they do not usually associate. This is why Junior Miss is such a rewarding experience; when it's all over, the girls know it wasn't just the winners who won; each girl has been enriched by her participation.

ART CLUB

Art is the one subject that is undefinable. Art Club, therefore, is also difficult to explain. The BHS Art Club consists of a small group of talented and successful artists, each in his or her own way. This is the premise upon which the club is built: success through individuality. All members must make a group effort to understand themselves and the environment better; expression of this knowledge is art.

Rear: Chris Field, Mr. Bolton, Dianne Scanlin, Anna Frazel, Chuck Iliff, Jennifer Orpin, Cindy Wright.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The Photography Club offers a chance for staff and students to share and critique photographs. The members learn the fundamentals of photography and basic darkroom procedures from Ms. Ericson. Plans for the coming year include a number of field trips, and a photography show in the Festival of Pride Night that is being organized by the National Honor Society.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVING

The Future Problem Solving Team of B.H.S. consists of a small group of seniors and juniors who discuss such topics as UFO's, robots in industry, and the threat of an all-out nuclear war.

SPEECH

The Barnstable Speech Team is a credit to our school and community. There are, within speech, a number of many different categories, one suited for every individual. When attending a tournament, contestants are split into their specific categories such as play reading children's literature, prose reading, etc., and then further divided into subgroups. There are usually three to four rounds, each consisting of four to five contestants being ranked by a single judge. The students who arrive as shy individuals blossom into confident, articulate speakers who can stand up and speak to a room full of people. These students develop into state and national winners.

The program starts as soon as school commences and finishes its season in April. Students have traveled in past years to New York, Detroit, and Boston, Chicago, Alabama, and San Francisco.

INSIGHT

Vol. 15, No. 4 Barnstable High School, Hyannis, Mass. 02601 10¢ February 11, 1981

INSIGHT was once again awarded prestigious commendation from Columbia Scholastic Press Association in its judging of high school papers across the country. It also received first place in the Scroll and Quill competition. The editors and reporters managed to keep readers informed of school news through incisive news reporting and amusing features.

Front Row: Leslie Souza, Jennifer Barth, Eileen Sullivan.

KEY CLUB

Key Club International is a service organization for high school students, sponsored by Kiwanis International. Its major aim is to develop initiative, leadership, and good citizenship practices in youth, while providing service to the school and community.

Barnstable's Key Club has been highly successful in sponsoring the Junior Miss Program for a number of years. Key Club also runs the concession stand at home football games to raise money to contribute to service projects. This year Key Club took an active role in a Bloodmobile at the high school, for the American Red Cross. In the spring, Key Clubbers will attend the district convention at Dunfey's, Hyannis.

CODE CLUB

Code Club is a community service organization which assists the elderly, sick, disabled, and underprivileged.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society strives to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in pupils of Barnstable High School. Based on these qualities, members are elected into the Honor Society during their junior or senior year. NHS continues to run a student-tutor program, as well as the Honor Bowl competition. This year, NHS also co-sponsored a blood drive for the Red Cross. Also, in the past years, NHS has raised money for the John Kilcoyn Scholarship which is given to a student who is selected on the basis of scholarship.

HR REPS

Every year, each homeroom elects a representative and an alternate. It is the responsibility of the Rep to inform his/her homeroom of class matters. If the Rep is not able to do this then the alternate takes over.

Over the years, the Reps have organized many fund raising events, such as car washes and dances. These events helped to make a very successful Jr. Prom at Dunfey's.

The senior year, however, is the most important. Along with informing the class of such activities as Homecoming, The Class Trip, and The Class Picnic, they must also organize our most important events; Sr. Prom and Graduation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is an integral part of Barnstable High School. It is an organization made up of students who perform duties and services for the school and community. It also provides a platform for the collective voice of students, as well as opportunities for individual students to develop their leadership abilities.

The organization is based on a constitution that was adopted by the student body, the administration, and the faculty. It provides for a state of elected officers. These officers strive to make the Council a true governing body.

"HOOCH"

"Flappers, floozies, flamboyant chantoozies, everybody shed all of your inhibitions. Life has been a ball ever since Prohibition!"

The Roaring Twenties came alive during the 1982 spring drama production. John Sullivan directed a cast of fifty people in Bill McNeill's play, "Hooch."

The play takes place in a combination mortuary and speakeasy. By day a common, ordinary funeral parlor becomes by night a wild, and illegal, night spot.

The play opens as Richie Thorogood lands a job at the speakeasy, alias funeral parlor. The plot thickens as the audience discovers that quiet, inconspicuous Richie is, in fact, an FBI agent. Fortunately, for all concerned, Richie chooses to side with his new friends and fools the FBI agents that come to arrest everyone. The play ends with the big celebration.

Top: Dave Barrett, Paul Giuliana, Chris Hosford, Peggy Sullivan, Liz McGann, Marko Bourne, Jim Hill, Holly Nadeau, Elaine McGann, Bill Evans, Elaine Belsito and Jon Morrison prepare for opening night.
Middle: Steve Chauncey looks confused as Marko Bourne and Jane Powers take their final bows.

"THE SUNSHINE BOYS"

Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys" was originally performed on the movie screen. Walter Matthau and Art Carney immortalized the characters of Willie Clark and Al Lewis. Bill Evans and Neil McGarry carried on the tradition in the 1981 Drama Competition and the 1982 spring play. Elaine Belsito played the part of Willie's niece and Neal McDonough, Tom Adams and Emily Martin played supporting roles.

The play relates the problems the two men have in attempting a comeback after many years off-stage. Unfortunately, age has diminished their comedic talents and they must, once again, return to their lonely lives.

Middle Right: Peggy Sullivan and Ray Eaton as the nurse and her patient take their bows.
Bottom Left: Emily Martin considers Bill Evans' symptoms and discounts many of them as the signs of a hypochondriac.

The Point

'The Point' by Harry Nilsson is a musical fantasy of a world where everything and everyone has a point. Jim Hill, a senior, adapted the record to the stage.

The play relates the story of a poor boy, Obio, who was born without a point and he and his dog must be banished to the Pointless Forest. There they meet the Pointless Man, the Bees, the Rockman, the Fat Sisters and the Leafman. Through their adventures they discover that everything has point, in one form or another, so they must. Upon their return, they show everyone that Oblio has grown a point and can remain in the Land of Point. The evil Count who had banished them originally is forced to reveal that he himself doesn't have a point so must be banished.

Top: Paul Giuliana, Oblio, and Andy Rapo, Arrow, discuss their next move.
Middle: The people of Point, Chris Hosford, Dave Barrett, Sue Taylor, Lisa Segerman, Lori Giberti, Ray Eaton, Jamie Nadeau and Caroline Munck, dance their way through the first scene.
Bottom Left: Corpses come to life in the Land of Point. Allison Mason and Steve Farrell, Paul Giuliana and his ghostly partner, Betty Anderson and Dave Barrett show that even corpses can Charleston.

1983 BARNACLE

The 1983 yearbook staff has worked hard to create a yearbook filled with memories of four high school years. A combination of the great leadership skills of Editor-in-Chief, Elaine Belsito; the guidance of Advisor, Ms. Buskey, and the creativity on the part of the staff made Barnacle 1983 a success.

Bottom Left: Marianne McEvoy and Betty Anderson pose during a break from yearbook work done after school at a student's house.
Bottom Right: John Nickulas counts the cash when the final yearbooks are ordered.

Class Will and Superlatives

A wide variety of individuals have made the class of '83 special. Whether we remember our classmates by their special talents, outstanding looks, or great sense of humor, we think of them all with fond memories.

"Be as you are, as you see, as I am . . . I am."

Compliments of Muttly

May is the cruelest month. It is also the kindest. Finals mad dash opens it; graduation climaxes it; silence ends it.

On warm days students sit on the banks outside the cafe. Frisbees fly. "Steadies" attempt to study, but pages and notes flap in the breeze. The need to be together supersedes the finals.

"Hey, I'm a senior and I don't care!" They swap addresses and phone numbers, all thinking of September. The seniors whoop it up! Friday and Saturday nights explode with parties. It's the last big hurrah with the old gang before being plugged into the 9 to 5 Great American Money-Making Machine. It's a time to get faced before becoming faceless.

One afternoon it's over. The lockers are cleaned out, books returned, the parking lots left half empty. Silence. The teachers smile and grimace, while the underclassmen sigh. No more senior pranks!

September is May's kin. Some seniors wonder if they will be back in September; others start jobs to pay for September. And most seniors have hoarded the seventeen or more credits to be free of September's grip. May is the month.

Childhood's End

the Children have grown.
Let it ring 'round
the World.
The Rigidity of Purpose
The Inflexible Function is over, for now.
They say, "For twelve years you have all been as one now abandon Yourselves
and learn of Self."
And we flee,
as birds before a storm,
Headlong into Life.
The memories and sensations
of the past live on,
In our minds
and in our hearts giving purpose to
our Transient Solitude.
